Treasurership Fight Furnishes the Only Real Dizziness of Convention.

Special to The Tribune. PROVO, Oct. 18 .- The Smoot party me in convention this morning at 10 o'clock, with a very meager attendance. J. W. Dunn was appointed temporary chairman, and Mrs. Alta Strong secretary. Committees on platform and resolutions, permanent organization and order of business and credentials were appointed, and the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The permanent organization this afternoon was: I. E. Eggerton, chairman; J. W. McAdam, secretary; H. Cluff, chaplain; Joseph Bullock, sergeant-at-arms.

In the platform adopted by the convention, President Roosevelt and the national Republican administration are indorsed, the State Republican administration and Senator Smoot are highly commended, the county administration gets a boost, and the quasi Republican administration is alluded to with pride. led to with pride

Black Eye for Smoot.

The real expression of the convention etween the Smoot interest of the east end and the anti-Smoot interest or west end and the anti-Smoot interest or west end was manifested in the nomination of treasurer. The Provo Commercial and Savings Bank, of which Smoot is president, has for many years handled the city's money, and was unwilling to lose the account. The Federal employees were all-round henchmen of Smoot. Postmaster Clove nominated Mrs. Mary Vincent for Treasurer. In his nominating speech, he alluded to her as a great worker in the Woman's Republican club, and said. "This club is the only means by which the Republican fire has been kept burning between campaigns, and the only medium through which our beloved townsman, Reed Smoot, can announce his candidacy for the United States Senate."

The speech had a great deal to do with lessening the chances for Mrs. Vincent's nomination. It was immediately concluded by the convention that she was the Federal bunch's bank corner candidate, although she likes in the year to the state of the state of the state of the rest of the state of the Federal bunch's bank corner candidate, although she likes in the year to the state of the Federal bunch's bank corner candidate, although she likes in the year to the state of the state of Mrs. Lizzie Choules was nominated by an anti-Smoot, anti-east end delegate, scarcely twenty-one years of age, and she won over Mrs. Vincent by a handsome majority.

It is quite apparent that the Smoot Republican bank will not handle the city funds during the next two years. If Mrs. Choules is elected Treasurer, she will deposit the city funds with the Farmers' and Merchants' bank of the west end. If the Democratic nominee for Treasurer is elected, the city funds will go to the State Bank of Provo, or to the Farmers' and Merchants' bank.

In his speech of acceptance, Mayor Frisby talked much for harmony. He expressed a fear that there might be a ruction before election day.

The Democrats will hold their convention tomorrow.

PURE FOOD CONFERENCE AT LARAMIE, WYOMING

Special to The Tribune

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 18.—There will be a conference here tomorrow between the pure food commission of Wyoming, consisting of E. W. Burke, the pure food commissioner; H. G. Knight, the state chemist, and Ross Moudy, the assistant state chemist, and certain manufacturers and Jobbers of food products having traveling agents in this state concerning the enforcement of the pure food laws of the state. Until the present time Commissioner Burke has prosecuted dealers for food products found by the state chemist to be in violation of the pure food laws of the state, the minimum penalty upon conviction being $50, and a large amount of money has been turned into the treasuries of the different counties where prosecutions have been had. Now the manufacturers and jobbers will ask the commission to so modify its plans as to permit the jobbers to remove certain goods which, while coming under the ban of the Wyoming law, are permitted to be sold in states where there are less stringent laws. "Technically we may be found guilty," they say in their letter to the commission, "but morally we have committed no wrong, and we desire some medification of the rules of the commission and which have gotten into Wyoming by mistake or under a misapprehension of the meaning of the rules of the board." The father is usually away from home, as he is developing a mining claim up Kelly guich. During the last seven nights three men have annoyed the family in various ways. The first night, while Mrs. Richardson and her children were away, they raised the window sashes, opened the front and back doors, and one entered the house through the bed room window, but nothing was taken. Mrs. Richardson, believing the intruder was a ghost or the devil, had the Baptist minister, the Rev. Mr. Burtch, come there and pray.

STORY UNTRUE ABOUT DISCHARGE OF MEN

Alleged Capture of Charles H. Finances Discussed and Public Calland Also a Hoax, It Is Claimed.

OGDEN, Oct. 18 -- A scarehead story appeared in an evening Ogden paper tolight to the effect that Superintendent E. C. Manson of the Salt Lake division of the Southern Pacific has discharged about 150 men on the division and that the list of those deprived of their positions is posted at Sparks.

At Sparks.

This is another story in the hoax line that resembles the story printed in the morning Morris organ in Salt Lake and the Smoot mouth printed in Zlon, on Thursday morning, in which both papers printed "scoops" to the effect that Charles H. Calland, the defaulting claims agent of the Harriman lines, who decamped about August 15 of this year, was said to have surrendered himself and was enroute to Utah to stand punishment for his misdeeds.

As to the laying off of 150 men on the Salt Lake division of the Southern Pacific by Mr. Manson, there is nothing in it. He has not laid off 150 men, nor 15 men. This denial is given on his own authority, although he is out on his division at the present time and was at the time that the article appeared in print this evening.

It is on a par with the story in the Morris organ and the Smoot organ on Thursday morning, that Charles H. Calland had surrendered himself, or had been captured. Calland is not on his way to Ogden, and will not be here.

Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, it was unofficially announced today, had decided to accept the presidency. He was present today when the bank's affairs were looked into. It was said that Mr. Heinze still retained his holdings in the Mercantile bank.

Charles W. Morse formally announced tonight that Comptroller Ridgely had agreed to accept the presidency of the Mercantile National bank. From other sources it was learned that Mr. Ridgely also insisted as a condition of his acceptance that a new board of directors be elected and that he be placed in a position where he would have free rein. This was said to mean that Mr. Ridgely and his friends had secured an option on a controlling interest in the bank and that the option would be exercised, probably tomorrow. It was also made known that during the day the Mercantile was enabled to make good its debit balance of $754,000 with the clearing house.

F. Augustus Heinze tonight referrated that he was still in control of the Mercantile and had net sold a single share of his holdings. They amount to about $1,200,000.

JUSTICE BREWER ALWAYS KEPT NEAR THE PEOPLE

Associate Justice David J. Brewer, celebrating his seventieth birthday with his children and grandchildren about him, with letters and telegrams of congratulation pouring in on him from classmates and friends everywhere, from his fellow-justices and Cabinet officers and from the President, is an object of national interest. In both the man and the occasion there is something of old Roman dignity and character.

It is the boast of one Justice of the United States Supreme court that he refrains from reading the papers and holds himself as aloof as possible from helds himself as aloof as possible from public affairs in order that he may remain uninfluenced by popular opinion and avoid all appearance of judicial bins. That has not been Justice Brewer's way; he has never courted a Liama-like seclusion.

In the nearly half a century since he hung out his shingle in a little Kansas town on the debatable border ground of slavery he has ever kept near the people and taken part in their issues and causes. As United States commissioner in the first five years of the war, as County Attorney, as Probate Judge and Judge of the Criminal court, District court and Circuit Judge in turn, and for the past eighteen years as a member of the past eighteen vers as a member of the highest court, he has grown with the nation's growth. He has mixed in the fray and been a large part of it without fear that contact with the soil would stain his toga.

Justice Brewer has been not only a great judge, measured by standards which Jay and Marshall set, but he has manifesthed many of the attributes of a far-sighted statesman as well. Unlike Harvard, Yale cannot point to a "great est living graduate" in the Presidential chair. But on the Supreme bench it has tinguished career it may take a propet maternal pride.
